Food poisoning is attributed to sauce

An outbreak of food poisoning at Bay Senior High School which left 104 persons suffering from various degrees of the sickness last Thursday has been blamed on the presence of staphylococcus germs, a common bacteria, in the spaghetti sauce served in the school lunchroom.

Thirty-three students and several faculty members required treatment at Hancock General Hospital following eating the luncheon meal at the school which consisted of spaghetti and meatballs, cole slaw, garlic bread and canned pears. Seven remained hospitalized overnight, according to hospital sources.

Portions of the food served Thursday were sent to the state hygienic laboratory in Jackson the following day for analysis.

Their report issued Wednesday morning to Doctor Louis H. Jobe, director of the Hancock County Health Department, stated tests of food just eaten prior to the food poisoning outbreak at Bay Senior High School Sept. 12 showed presence of staphylococcus germs in the spaghetti sauce.

"This germ is the most frequent cause of food poisoning in the United States," the report went on to say.

Jobe said that the investigation by the state board of health and the Hancock Health Department was continuing in attempts to locate the source of contamination.

"This part of the investigation may not be successful," he said, "due to the fact that the germ is prevalent on normal skin, infected cuts, and in nasal and throat secretions."

Jobe said that the germ had to be transmitted "from somewhere" but was very difficult to pinpoint. He added that speculation whether one person could transmit enough of the germ to infect such a large number of persons with food poisoning would depend on the time period that the germ had to grow and spread.

"Theoretically," Jobe said, "one person could infect that many people."

The first cases of the illness showed at approximately 3:30 p.m. Thursday afternoon. By 11 p.m. Thursday night 31 persons had been admitted to Hancock General Hospital for treatment.

Doctors treating patients said that symptoms of the illness usually show from three to 12 hours after the infected food is consumed.

Symptoms ranged from single nausea to diarrhea, vomiting and abdominal pain. Patients were being treated for symptoms, whatever they were at Hancock General.

Shrimp run

Shrimping was good Monday afternoon for a large number of Hancock fishermen who took advantage of large schools of shrimp running close to the North Beach Road seawall. Some fishermen claimed to have caught 100 pounds of the large white shrimp in two hours time. Catches of 15 to 45 pounds were commonplace. Many used corn meal or dog food to entice the shrimp to a favorable location for the hand thrown nets, but others were having equal luck just throwing their nets into the swirling water. Philip Babin is shown here with a net full of the king sized shrimp after a lucky cast. Babin was one of several who claimed to have netted 100 lbs. Other pictures inside Section A.

Supervisors cut short

A special meeting of Hancock supervisors called to consider a date for a special $1.565 million bond election was ruled illegal Monday morning by board attorney Sam Favre.

The meeting was rescheduled by president Alton A. Kellar for 10 a.m. Sept. 23 after Favre declared insufficient and improper notification of the Monday session was given.

The question of the legality of the meeting was brought up by supervisor Jerry Ladner who said he did not believe that proper notification of the meeting had been given to each supervisor by Kellar.

Ladner stated last week that he was not in favor of a special session for the purpose of resetting the ill fated school bond election.

School board members have been frustrated by a series of setbacks in their attempts to pass the special bond issue which would finance building improvements within the county school system as well as the construction of a new high school in the southern half of the county in the Lakeshore community.

The bond issue was defeated in the first election June 4 after the school board failed by 19 votes to get a clear majority.

A second election called by supervisors for Sept. 7 was cancelled by supervisors after the threat of Hurricane Carmen.

At a special meeting Tuesday Sept. 10 school board members asked supervisors to reschedule the election for Oct. 19.

Monday's ruling by Favre that the supervisors were meeting illegally does not necessarily preclude them from holding the bond election on Oct. 19 if they so desire.

Favre said the board would still have sufficient time this Monday if they so decide to advertise the election before Oct. 19.

State law, he said, requires that the election be advertised four times and then held within seven days of the fourth publication.

The board, which was split last week on the necessity of calling a special election, will likely split again this Monday.

Supervisor Jerry Ladner reiterated his opposition Monday to separating the election from general elections in November. Beat five Supervisor Jimmy Travira has indicated he may also take a hard line against holding a special election which would cost taxpayers an additional $2,000.

The board indicated it would also consider petitions filed relative to the removal of certain assessments from the Hancock County land roll and would act on the claim docket of the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission.

School board willing to use GEC money

Dan Barber

Echo Staff Writer

Hancock County school board members Tuesday expressed a willingness to use some $180,000 in GEC funds appropriated to the board following Hurricane Camille if county supervisors intend to spend similar funds given them instead of repaying the controversial loan.

Board member Eric Larsen said he was in favor of spending the money, which has been held in limbo, now that county supervisors apparently intend not to repay the $247,000 still in county hands. The board of supervisors voted Sept. 9 by a 3-2 margin to draw from the GEC funds to pay for road work in beat five and drainage surveys in beat one.

"We'll just have to do whatever the board of supervisors votes to do," Larsen said. "We can't very well pay back our loan if the county votes to spend their money."

Funds delegated to the county schools have been channeled through the board of supervisors.

The board indicated that the top priority for the funds would be a new cafeteria for Hancock North Central High School should the future $1.565 million bond election for county school improvements fail.

A new cafeteria is one item included in the bond package being pushed by the school board.

In another matter the board became embroiled in a dispute between parents of a 16-year-old exceptional student and former assistant superintendent of education, E. E. Breland, after parents of the youth accused the board of dragging its feet on establishing special education classes for approximately 50 students.

Parents of the youth, who said that they presently had to drive from Kiln, Miss. to Clermont Harbor daily in order to put their son in school, complained that the board was violating state law by not moving with expediency to establish special education classes at Hancock North Central School for their son and other students determined to need special education.

The meeting exploded in anger on both sides after Breland told the father of the son,

"You know so much more than the board, why don't you just go ahead and tell the board what to do and I'm sure they'll do it."

Breland said that he had seen the parent's son and that in his opinion there was nothing wrong with the boy.

"Are you a trained psychologist?" the mother shot back. "I have the papers right here with me where he was tested in January by the East Miss. State Hospital and they say he has a learning problem."

"The boy has a learning problem," the father added, "not a physical handicap."

Other parents at the meeting implored the board to simply get the program underway.

Breland answered that the program in the schools could not be set up overnight.

Every home has to be visited, he said, after the parents had left and every child needs to be screened.

Someone, he added, should have been employed this summer to work the communities, contact parents and get the preliminary paper work out of the way.

"The trouble," Breland said, "is that the board approved this program but nothing was done to locate these students until school actually started."

The board said they would look into the program in an effort to eliminate all unnecessary delays in screening children and setting up classes.

In other business the board authorized financial consultant Ed LeVasseur to pay an $11,750 premium for building insurance at the county's three schools and $8,280.90 for school lockers from Martin School Equipment Co.

sewer plant. Aldermen J. E. Moran and Sal Giuffria said at the meeting that they did not question Savarese's legal authority, but they did question his method of not informing the other aldermen of the expenditure.

After the meeting, Savarese released copies of a letter in which he challenged some of Moran's and Giuffria's methods. He pointed that both men have spent money without informing the board, citing as an example their hiring of a dogcatcher at $800 a month.

In other matters, the aldermen approved a resolution calling for a levy of 42.5 mills of ad valorem taxes for 1974-75. Maxwell said the millage is the same as last year's rate. And the board set Oct. 14 as the date for the sale of property with delinquent taxes.

Several Long Beach residents complained about poor drainage from

Bay school loan still in limbo

Apparently in accord with school board president William Breland, the Bay St. Louis city council Wednesday morning failed to ratify a school board request for a $30,300 loan for school purchases and improvements.

The sum represents a list of supplies, grounds and building improvements that has had an "on again, off again" history since the items first appeared on the school budget for 1974-75, submitted in July for board approval.

Later the items were allegedly dropped in a budget cut following stringent objections from the Waveland council.

At a Sept. 9 school board meeting trustees voted to borrow the money on a two-year short term note, pending ratification of the loan by the city council.

The action was taken over Breland's urging to wait until "we're ready to buy these things or have the work done." Breland said he was reluctant to add another loan to the several that the school system is now laboring under.

"I can't see paying interest on money until we're ready to use it," he stated.

School superintendent J. D. McCullough's assurance that all the items were needed immediately swung the decision to borrow the money, with trustees Robert Hamilton and Mrs. Ginny Gex in favor of the loan, and Emile Hazeur siding with Breland.

At a Monday city council meeting, the council accepted the school board's request for a $50,000 short term note to tide the school system over until sufficient tax payments are received later this year. This is normal procedure, Mayor Warren Carver explained, and the note will be repaid in March, 1975.

However, Carver objected to the $30,300 request, to be retired under a one and a half mill allocation for bond sinking funds allowed under state statute.

The school board's resolution was ambiguous, he said, and didn't specify exactly what that amount of money was for. Before he agreed to the loan, Carver said he would like to see line items and prices for the articles on the list and how the overall figure was reached.

He had seen the corrected budget last Friday for the first time, the Mayor added, and was under the impression that the same items were still included.

Commissioner Lucien Kidd, reading from the original budget called out the cost figures for the following requested items: chairs, desks, filing cabinets, typewriters, etc. - $4,000; Junior High sound system - $3,300; Junior High auditorium seats - $10,000; sewage connection to the stadium - $3,000; North Bay playground renovation - $8,000; shells for North Bay playground - $2,000.

Commissioners Kidd and Clarence Ladner agreed with the mayor to hold the loan request in abeyance until Tuesday morning's meeting pending a search of the revised budget.

Although the matter was not resolved Tuesday, at Wednesday's meeting (the board meets every day this week to hear property tax assessment complaints) Carver maintained his stand of objection to the loan.

Commissioner Ladner withdrew his motion to accept when Kidd stood in favor of seeking a line item breakdown on the loan figures.

In a statement to the Echo at press time Wednesday, Mayor Carver said, "I am opposed to the concept of increasing the indebtedness of the Bay St. Louis school district by an additional $30,300. However, since the qualified electors of the district have the right to petition for an election on the question, I will vote in favor of the resolution tomorrow (Thursday)."

A deadline of Oct. 7 has been set for submission of a petition of objection to the loan, necessitating a special election. A petition signed by 20 percent of qualified electors in the district is required by that date.

Parents must pay students' damages

by David Pierson

Long Beach Bureau

After the regular board meeting September 10, the board of trustees for the Long Beach schools met in an executive session with the parents of the children who recently vandalized W. J. Quarles Elementary School.

The board unanimously agreed that the parents of those children will be required to pay the damages to school property and equipment. When the damages have been paid in full, the students will be permitted to return to school. Until then they will remain suspended from school.

STUDENTS

Look for names and entries of contest winners in Constitution Week paragraphs next week. Deadline for all entries submitted to the Echo is tomorrow. Winning paragraphs will be announced on WPUP radio as well as printed in the Echo next week.

In the regular session, the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Lanee K. Cobb. Then the following teachers were approved: Patricia Ann Gates, Green Acres Elementary; Alice O. Stuprich, Long Beach Jr. High mathematics; Carol Wilson, Long Beach Senior High for four periods of English; Rita Sheffield, Long Beach Senior High for one period of dramatics; Sally Harman, Jeff Davis Elementary; and Jerry Rouse, baseball coach to replace Allen Weiford who resigned earlier.

Superintendent T. L. Reeves presented the board with an amendment to the Title I district allocation, asking an additional $44,055. The amendment reflects an expanded reading program through the fourth grade and the beginning of a mathematics program in the second grade. He also recommended that health services be added to the Title I program. There are 513 children who are eligible for services under the program, Reeves said.

The board believed that by

Separate election is unlikely

by Dan Barber

Odds that Hancock supervisors would confirm a county school board request to set a $1.565 million bond election before general elections in November diminished considerably Tuesday after a second Echo poll of supervisors revealed the school board had lost a crucial swing vote.

The school board has petitioned county supervisors to reset the beleaguered bond election for Oct. 19 approximately two weeks before general elections on Nov. 5. A poll of supervisors Sept. 10 revealed that the board was split 3-2 in favor of rescheduling the bond election for Oct. 19.

A second poll this week showed school board members had lost the support of one supervisor during the week and now faced a 3-2 vote against any separate election before November.

A second special session of county supervisors was called for Monday Sept. 23 to consider the school board request for a separate election after this week's special session was ruled illegal by board attorney Sam Favre.

Supervisor Bully Zengarleng, who said Tuesday he had received a large number of calls from voters opposed to the county spending money for two elections, indicated he would now vote against holding the bond election Oct. 19.

POLICE CAR PROBLEMS

This column is to make you aware of a procedure that we have had to resort to in order to buy police cars. It is an unusual approach so I wanted you to know all about it.

On March 5 this year the board officially agreed to advertise for bids for a police car. At the meeting of April 2, we received a single bid from Bubba Oustalet Ford for a Torino for $3,681.62. On checking we found that Van Every Ford in Jackson who has the state bid contract could beat that price by a couple of hundred dollars. (On the state bid arrangement, the agency bids in bulk at the state level and cities, counties, etc. can buy without further bidding at the local level and often at a savings.)

In the meantime Chief Peralta asked that we wait before awarding the contract to Van Every because he had heard of some Highway Patrol cars with low mileage which may be made available to municipal police departments at token price. So we waited.

When the Highway Patrol prospect did not materialize as we had expected, the chief recommended we purchase the Ford Torino from Van Every. We ordered the car on June 6, were told it would take from 6 to 8 weeks, and waited again.

On July 31 I called to check on the status because our cars were just about shot. The frames were cracked, they were using fantastic amounts of oil and costing a fortune in repairs.

I was told then that they could not deliver the car we ordered nor a similar one, and that they could not even offer a '75 'til October and could not deliver it until January.

So we re-advertised at the meeting of Aug. 6 and were to receive the bids on September 3. We got none.

So now we are stuck with a critical need for police cars. One car is completely gone. The engine just froze. The others are limping along and are subject to just quit like the other one any time.

Local students on Dean's list

Three students from Bay St. Louis made the Dean's List during the summer at the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Park, announced Gwyn Naderhoff, director of admissions and records.

The three are Vicky L. Edwards, Warren L. Moran and Mrs. Carol P. Vegas.

Also, John C. Langford of Kiln achieved the honor. In order to be included on the list of academic recognition, students must make a 3.3 grade point average on a 4.0 system on six semester hours of work.

According to our city attorney and the attorney general's office, we cannot buy anything over $500 without first receiving bids. So they offer this plan. First we shop the local dealerships and find a car which will serve the purpose and negotiate a price. Then we officially rent that car and simultaneously advertise for bids on that car. Then when the bids are received, we buy the car we are renting, with the rent costs applied to the purchase price.

Like I said, it is a bit unusual but according to the city attorney as well as the state attorney general, it is legal. In fact, it is the only legal way to solve the problem.

Anyway, I just thought you should know about it.

Division to Gulf Coast consumers.

Summer said, "I want to talk with the people of the Gulf Coast area, also the district, county and municipal officials and all others who may have something to say or questions to ask and generally make known the services available from my office. We are hopeful that by opening our office on the coast for a week we can better understand the problems and be of more assistance to the people."

Summer also brought his Consumer Protection staff, headed by Assistant Attorney General Marshall Bennett, to the coast for the week to assist the public with their consumer problems.

Summer said, "This law is the best thing that has happened to the average Mississippian in a long time, and we are very enthusiastic about assisting and protecting the consumer of Mississippi against any illegal operations."

Atty. Gen. Summer went on to say, "In visiting the coast area, we hope to better inform the residents of the area of this new law and the protection it does offer them. We want to bring the protection of this law and the assistance of our office directly to the local level where the consumers are most affected by illegal operations."

Summer invites anyone to drop by to discuss any problem with which his office may be of assistance. He and his staff will be in the county court house in Biloxi tomorrow.

Constitution Week posters on display

Winning Constitution Week posters made by Bay residents were displayed Sept. 17 on Channel 13, WLOX-TV.

Later in the day the posters were placed at vantage points in Bay St. Louis where they may be viewed through Sept. 23.

All winning posters will be added to the Gulf Coast Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution permanent collection to be used annually during Constitution Week, according to Joe Pilet who represents that organization.

"Let us Forget", the poster designed and executed by Nadine Stamm, Bay St. Louis artist, is now on exhibition at the City-County Public Library. Mrs. Stamm was commended for both research and excellence in portrayal in this outstanding poster depicting George Washington presiding during the Constitutional Convention, the graphic location of the then 13 states forming the Union, and the quotation from Lincoln. Mrs. Stamm's message is an appeal to all citizens to cherish and preserve our Constitutional Form of Government.

She said during an interview, "If we ever lose these precious freedoms, we cannot regain them". Her prize, donated by Col. and Mrs. Elmo Nolan of Pass Christian was an especially designed sand bottle. The Nolan sand bottles, are also found in our state and national museums.

Senior Citizen artist Carl Baldenhoffer of Waveland executed a masterpiece in simplicity in his poster - "187 Years Young". It is located on the bulletin board of the Hancock Bank, Bay St. Louis Branch. Robert Hamilton, vice-president and manager of the bank, made a request for this poster feeling busy patrons visiting the bank could absorb the important message in one brief glance. A scroll lettering proclaims the message. A handsome necktie, gift from the Coast Chapter, D.A.R. was given to Mr. Baldenhoffer in appreciation of his contribution.

On an easel in the front lobby of the Gulf National Bank, Bay St. Louis Branch, may be seen the appropriate poster made by James Pritchett, hair stylist by profession and artist and landscape gardener by avocation.

The poster, water-colored in delicate pastels and dramatized with bold National colors shows an attractive home, inspired by one in House Beautiful, and displaying "Old Glory" with the caption "Fly Your Flag". Mr. Pritchett believes any home is a "House Beautiful" when it displays the symbol of our nation's patriotism.

Mrs. William (Anita) Lamb, public relations director for the bank said, "We are delighted to display this truly charming poster - and we also proudly fly our flag." Mrs. Donna Baird of Pass Christian donated a beautifully hand-decouped vase, ornamented with fine antique lace as an expression of appreciation to the maker of this poster.

Loud and clear, strong and bold, is the message and the poster made by Mrs. Elise Beauchamp of McDonald Lane in Bay St. Louis. A retired writer, garden enthusiast, historian, and D.A.R. affiliate, Mrs. Beauchamp says in effect without the Constitution our Country would be in chaos. See her unforgettable poster at the Bay St. Louis City Hall, first floor. Her prize, a salt and pepper set, was donated by Mrs. Cecile Price of Long Beach.

County Agent's Notes

John W. Smith

The Hancock County Fair and Livestock Show dates are October 14-19 this year. A Point Horse Show will start the activities on Saturday, October 12, starting at 4 p.m.

The Hancock County Extension Office and officers and directors of the Fair Association would like to encourage all residents of the county to take part in the Fair this year. We need the help of all people in the county to continue the growth of your county fair.

BRUCELLOSIS (BANG'S) VACCINATION PROGRAM
All cattle owners in Hancock County will have to vaccinate all heifer calves held for replacement on their farm. Brucellosis, commonly called "Bang's" disease, is a serious economic problem to beef and dairy herd owners in Hancock County as well as the entire state.

The county agent's office would like to encourage all cattle owners to check over their herds and determine the number of calves they have between the age of 3-8 months of age, and call in the number to the county agent's office, 467-5456.

We need the location of farm, and name so we can get a veterinarian in for setting up community places and time to vaccinate.

As soon as we can compile a list by communities, the sooner we can get this program moving.

It is going to take cooperation of all cattle owners in the county to help get this important job done. Talk to your neighbor if he does not know about this program.

If we can get all the calves lined up by communities, so the veterinarian can get all of them, it will not cost the farmer any money. If not, it could cost the farmer.

Veterinarians have agreed to come in if enough calves can be lined up to justify the trip. The veterinarian only received $1.50 per head.

State needs expanded lay board of education

At least six blue ribbon study groups have concerned themselves with the makeup of our state board of education in recent years. All reached the same conclusion: Mississippi needs an expanded lay state board of education.

The Governor's education study committee strongly recommended a lay state board of education in a report released in 1973.

Booz-Allen & Hamilton Management Consultants, Inc., in a statewide education study for the R & D Center in 1966-67, declared:

"Top priority should be given to amending the Mississippi State Constitution to authorize the establishment of a nine-man state board of education. Only lay citizens should be eligible for board membership."

In 1962 a legislative study committee on education said, "There should be a state agency for education comprised of a lay board and a professional staff responsible to the legislature and the people."

The citizens council on education, an organization of citizens interested in education, recommended an expanded lay board as early as 1950.

The Mississippi Economic Council, the state chamber of commerce, has also called for an expanded lay State Board of Education.

Mississippi is one of only two states having a state board of education composed completely of ex officio members. The state board of education in Mississippi functions largely as the agency responsible for policies and for rules governing minimum standards relating to schools.

There is a serious question, however, as to whether an ex officio state board of education comprised of three members—Superintendent of Education, Attorney General, and Secretary of State—two of whom are elected to assume other important state responsibilities, can continue to serve satisfactorily as a state board of education in a period when education demands are rapidly increasing.

The issue of a lay state board of education for Mississippi should be a high priority item if Mississippi is to advance in educational excellence. Our legislators should seriously consider this matter at the next legislative opportunity as a step toward improved education in Mississippi.

Registration open for Jr. Miss

Pass Christian is beginning its first search for the ideal high school senior girl through the Junior Miss Pageant sponsored by the West Harrison County Jayettes and Jaycees.

Announcement was made by chairman Gloria Necaise, and co-chairman Carolyn Cuevas of plans for the Pass Christian Junior Miss Pageant Dec. 7.

The local pageant is part of a nationwide program to honor and reward the country's leading high school girls for achievement in scholastics, creative talents and community betterment.

A contestant must be not less than 16-years old as of March 1, 1974 nor older than 19, as of May 31, 1974. She must be in her senior year and must not graduate prior to May 1, of the year of her participation in the national finals. She must be single and must never have been married, divorced or have had a marriage annulled.

The winner in Pass Christian will represent the city in the state Junior Miss Pageant at Meridian in February, competing with other state entries for the many scholarship awards and a chance to participate in the America's Junior Miss Pageant in Mobile.

The winner will be determined on the basis of scholastic achievement, character, youth fitness, poise, personality and creative abilities.

More than $700,000 in college scholarships, saving bonds, and other awards will be offered to local, state and national winners this year. A total of $55,000 in scholarships, topped by a $10,000 prize to the 1975 America's junior miss, will be awarded at the national pageant in Mobile, Alabama in May.

America's Junior Miss is sponsored nationally by Eastman Kodak Co., John H. Breck Inc. and Kraft Foods.

Contestants for the pageant must be seniors in high school. Senior girls in the Pass Christian district are urged to try out for this scholarship. For applications call Gloria Necaise at 255-9612 or Carolyn Cuevas at 255-9797, day or night.

School's open

With the opening of the 1974-75 school year, the American Automobile Association is urging drivers to be especially alert for youngsters traveling to and from school, many of them for the first time.

"Youngsters 5 to 8 years old, including first year students, are at the most critical age when it comes to coping with traffic," says James A. Henrie, public affairs director for the Central Gulf Division, AAA. Henrie explained that the daily routine of going to and from school, as well as inexperience in traffic situations, were key factors in making children vulnerable to motor vehicle accidents.

To help keep accidents to a minimum AAA offers the following advice to parents: —Walk with your child to school for the first few days over the safest route available. Get him started in plenty of time so he doesn't have to hurry.

—If your child rides a school bus, walk with him to the bus stop and impress him with his responsibility to cooperate with the driver or bus patrol. For a few days meet him at the bus stop when he comes home. Avoid driving your child to the bus stop, this only adds to the confusion and increases traffic hazards for all children.

Day with foreign missions set for October 21

The pastors of the Hattiesburg and Gulf Coast areas have been invited to the William Carey College campus on October 21 for a full day of foreign mission emphasis, sponsored jointly by the Foreign Mission Board and the college.

Uniquely planned to include seminars, dialogues, missionary testimonies and sharing sessions, the day will begin at 9 a.m. with registration. Following small group activities all morning, a luncheon fellowship will take place at noon in Wilkes Dining Hall.

The afternoon will be devoted to group reports, questions, and testimonies from foreign missionaries and staff members from Richmond, Virginia. At 4 p.m. President and Mrs. J. Ralph Noonkester of William Carey College will host all participants at a reception in the president's home adjacent to the campus.

A highlight of the day's events will be the first Founders Day Dinner in the history of the college, named appropriately for William Carey, the great British missionary to India who is known throughout the Protestant world as the "father of the modern missionary movement." Beginning at 5:30 p.m. in Wilkes Hall the dinner will feature special personages and events in keeping with the history of the college.

Climaxing the entire day's activities will be a great evening foreign mission happening at 7:30 in Thomas Fine Arts Auditorium. Seating 1200 persons, the auditorium is expected to be filled to capacity with young people and young adults, as well as lay leaders from the entire area. "We hope to pack into that one night all of the atmosphere, excitement and inspiration of a week of foreign mission emphasis at Ridgecrest or Glorieta," commented a spokesman for the event. "Pastors and educators and youth ministers of churches are urged to plan early for their church folk to participate in the evening happening."

African missionary will speak in Waveland

The Rev. T. R. Schultz, Assemblies of God missionary to Togo-Dahomey, West Africa, will be guest speaker Sept. 22 and 23, 7:30 p.m. at the First Assembly of God, Arnold St., Waveland, Miss. The Rev. P. J. Paramore, pastor has announced.

During his past term of missionary service, Rev.

Schultz served as dean of the West Africa Advanced School of Theology in Lome, Togo. He was also head of the French division of the school. Rev. Schultz and his wife Laura directed the Assemblies of God Bible School in Naittingou, Dahomey, for two years prior to transferring to WAAST.

Rev. Schultz received the B. A. degree from South-Eastern Bible College in Lakeland, Fla., in preparation for missionary service. He has taken graduate work at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg, Miss. Mrs. Schultz also attended South-Eastern Bible College in Lakeland.

The Schultzes pastored churches in Mississippi and attended school in Paris, France, where they studied the French language prior to their missionary appointment. The Assemblies of God presently has 36 missionaries and 66 national ministers serving in Togo and Dahomey. Approximately 5,516 members and adherents attend the 99 churches and outstations located throughout the countries.

Rev. Schultz will share experiences from his 24 years of missionary service at this special missions rally. Slides, curios and costumes of the country will be featured. The public is invited to attend.

Altrusa to sponsor symphony appearance

Community enrichment projects planned for the coming year were discussed at a Bay St. Louis-Waveland Altrusa Club finance committee meeting Sept. 12.

One of the major projects to come under Altrusa auspices this year is the Bay St. Louis appearance of the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony, scheduled for February 27. The evening performance will again be held in the Bay Junior High School auditorium.

The Bay Bridge Festival, held for the first time last spring at Sy Rosenthal Gym, turned out to be an immensely successful venture and will be repeated later in the year.

The Festival is a three-day event which showcases antiques, fine furniture, artwork and handcraft, a wide variety of serendipity and articles shown by exhibitors from a two-state area. Date of this year's Festival will be announced later.

Among other on-going service projects by the Altrusans is the Youth Detention Center, for which the club provides bed linens, reading material, and articles for personal hygiene for juvenile and women inmates.

College Scholarships For Women Over 35

Of the 783,000 Americans over 35 attending college, more than half are women. But going back to school is a problem for many, especially middle income women, who are assumed to be able to pay for their education, but often cannot (and aren't eligible for many sources of financial aid, either). As a result, Clairol, which has long shown interest in the achievements of women in such programs as "Women of the Year" and "Woman of Conscience," has established the $50,000 "Loving Care Scholarship Program" for women 35 and older.

Under it, fifty 4-year colleges and universities will each receive a $1,000 scholarship to be given to the student(s) the school selects on the basis of need and merit. Clairol's only requirement is that the recipient be a woman 35 or older enrolled either full or part-time in an undergraduate degree program.

Need will not depend on the recipient's fitting into any pre-determined economic category, but the general financial position will be considered. Funds may be used to pay any school-related expenses including transportation and child-care as well as more "traditional" costs.

"We hope that the scholarship program will serve as an example to other companies, and that the recipients will inspire more women to continue their educations," said company president Bruce S. Gelb.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

Of course you wouldn't remember the year 1837. That was a bad year for the Gulf Coast: bad crops, tight money, wild life shortage, and miserably rainy weather topped by what was probably the worst hurricane ever experienced in these parts.

At that time new settlers were flocking into Mississippi by the thousands, mostly into the central and northern counties, and as the delta country filled up the overflow spilled over into the piney woods area along the coast. But all was not joy and happiness, for the constant bad weather cut down the yield from the fields and made living conditions miserable. Money was tight, business was slow, and commercial failures were plentiful.

And then, for the crowning touch, a storm such as no one in the State had ever seen before struck the coast and came close to wiping out many of the little settlements from Shieldsboro to Biloxi.

In those days, of course, there was no warning system to prepare the settlers for what was coming. The heavy clouds rolling up in the southeast seemed to promise only another spell of bad weather, of which they already had had plenty, so the people were almost completely unprepared for the torrential rain and the following vicious wind which within minutes flattened everything but the stoutest-built house. With the gale came a white-capped flood from the gulf, and darkness fell over a ravaged land.

It took months of hard labor to clear away the tangled wreckage and to rebuild the most essential of the ruined buildings. But the settlers' troubles still were not over, for with winter came business hard times. In those days there was no federal "disaster relief" and people had to get along with what they had. Very little food had been saved, crops were almost totally ruined and most of the livestock had been killed, so it speaks well for the character and stamina of the settlers that they were able to survive the multiple hardships of that winter of '37-'38 while rebuilding their ruined homes and villages.

Storms were not given names in those days, so the disastrous blow of 1837 is referred to in diaries and letters of the time simply as "the" hurricane.

CLEAN SEAWALL

Dear Sir:

Monday, many of our local residents were shrimping at the head of Leopold Street off the sea wall, enjoying the food and pleasures our Bay can give them.

This one family decided they had enough and proceeded to leave. They decided to clean up the sea wall. What they did was throw every can (about 15-20), every paper cup, every box of snacks, everything into the water. Aunt's, uncles, grandmothers and children helped in the clean up job. Everyone stood there aghast, not able to say anything. It would have been better if we had.

Someone could have suggested that there is a better way to clean up. They could have taken their cups and cans home with them the same way they brought them. Why couldn't they have thought of this? You could see those cans for hours as the tide moved out.

I hope this family and many others that use our waters will stop and think before they throw trash again.

Sincerely,
Rosalie Kergosien

SENIORS SHELTERED

Dear Editor:

We would like to use this means to thank those who helped our Senior Citizens during the hurricane watch Saturday. At the same time we would like to thank the Senior Citizens who came to the Senior Citizen shelter for their assistance, beautiful behavior, cooperation, and good cheer. It was a beautiful experience to be with them during this time.

We would be afraid to mention names because so many helped that we would be bound to omit an important person. Each one gave of themselves to the others around them, even if it was limited to a smile.

Our Seniors made sandwiches for the other shelters with food donated by the Red Cross. They made potato salad, set tables, cleaned up, made coffee, assisted each other and were always cheerful. We did not have any real cleaning up to do after them - they kept our shelter extremely clean.

Our city and county officials saw to it that all seniors who called were picked up, that we had food and necessities, and were protected. The Red Cross was right on the spot with food, cots, blankets, and coffee.

Civil Defense kept us up to date on all advisories, saw that we had what we needed and generally kept watch over us. The Fire Dept. came by and set up our cots, reminded and helped us tape our windows, and were always available in case of necessity.

The housing authority manager was over here seeing that her people and ours were well cared for. All of our Senior Citizen programs had personnel here acting as volunteers manning the shelter. Everyone was wonderful. We thank the citizens of Hancock County!!!

Sincerely,

COUNCIL THANKS

Dear Editor:

They say it's a lady's prerogative to change her mind. Thank goodness Carmen did, or we might now be documenting another horrendous nightmare such as was wrought by her capricious sister Camille.

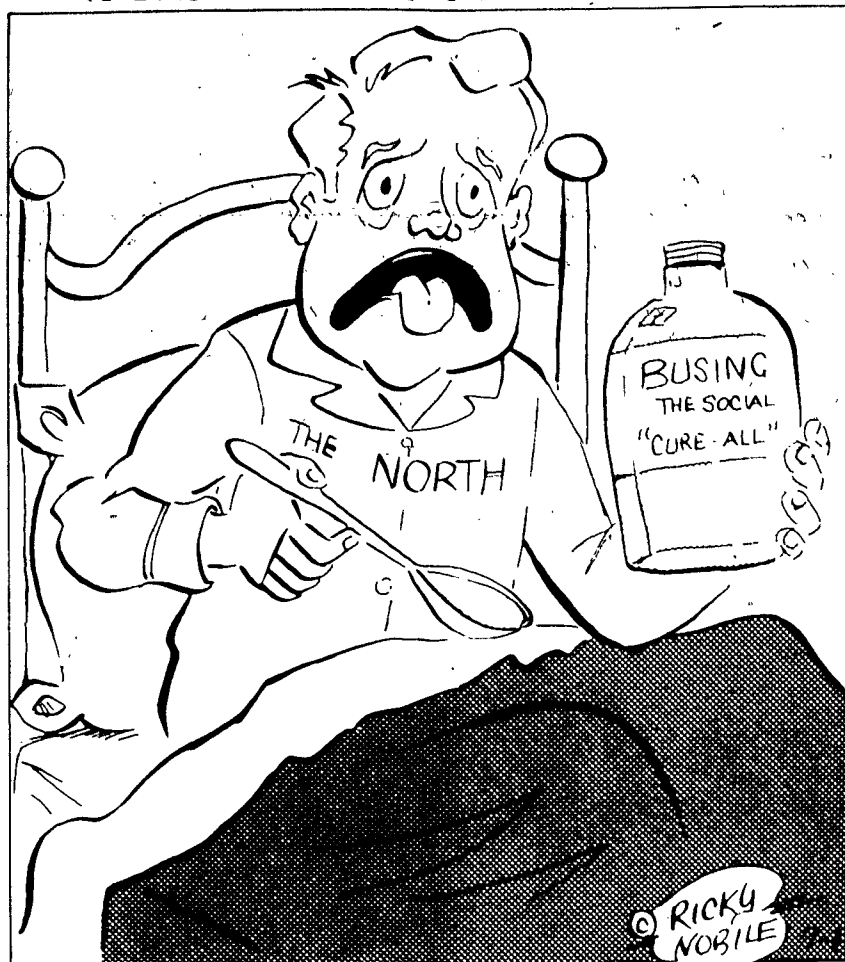

In behalf of the Governor of Mississippi, the twenty-one members of the Council on Aging, our staff, field workers and volunteers (all of whom I have the pleasure of representing as Executive Director of the Mississippi Council on Aging), I would like to express our most sincere gratitude to the scores of people who spontaneously and unhesitatingly gave us their assistance in bringing in and preparing our older citizens for this impending threat.

Our own centers were able to provide shelter and in most cases adequate food and other provisions that, along with our trained workers and volunteers, would have played their role in caring for them, but even more reassuring to us was the splendid response we had from all officialdom, agencies and departments for transportation and just tender-loving-care in this emergency.

It's not just a truism that our older people are our most vulnerable. They are the least prepared and able to protect themselves in situations like this, but we now have reason... no evidence... for believing that ANOTHER Camille with its dreadful consequences will never again happen. Thanks to an enlightened and concerned public.

Gratefully,
Horace L. Kerr

A TASTE OF HIS OWN MEDICINE

Local VA News

BY
Chester L. Curvev

Too many veterans scheduled for medical examinations for compensation and pension fail to report as scheduled. Most of those who fail to report do not even bother to notify the Outpatient Clinic beforehand.

Both the veteran and the Veterans Administration are losers when this occurs. For the veteran, it means unnecessary delay in completing action on his claim and receipt of his compensation or pension check. It could result in setting his claim aside for failure to cooperate. For the clinic, it is valuable time lost.

Physicians, technicians and clerks have a reserved time for the veteran, and when he fails to appear, it is too late to schedule someone else in his place. Other veterans, waiting in line to be called in for their examinations, are penalized through no fault of their own.

All veterans are urged to report for their scheduled examinations. If for some very important reason you cannot report at the time specified, the outpatient clinic should be notified immediately so another veteran can be scheduled in your place. If you will contact your County Service officer he will try to make the call for you and request another scheduled appointment.

The annual income questionnaire will be mailed with the October checks and should be received by V.A. pensioners about November 1. The income report cards will also be sent to dependent parents who are receiving dependency and indemnity compensation.

If the recipient is over 72 years of age they will not receive a card, but this does not mean that you are exempt from income limitations prescribed by law. You must still report any changes in your income that could affect your monthly V.A. payments.

You must report any increases in your income, or changes in your number of dependents. If you have any doubts about whether a change should be reported call 467-5404 and speak to the veterans service officer.

It is always possible, since these cards are machine processed, that a person might fail to receive either an income questionnaire or the check stuffer. In such event, the veteran under 72 years of age must fill out a V.A. Form 21-6897 and widows must fill out a Form 21-4100. These forms and help in filling them out are available at the Veterans Service office in the court house.

Remember that if your non-reimbursed medical bills exceed .05 percent of your total income, your income will be lowered by that excess and you are entitled to a check from the V.A. for the difference in pay this lower income creates. If you are already drawing the maximum amount of V.A. pension it would serve no purpose to submit your medical bills. Prescription drugs, Medicare premiums, health insurance premiums, doctor bills and hospital bills are all countable toward excess medical expenses.

ER, I MEAN SUGAR?"

NEWS FROM THE CAPITOL

from U.S. SENATOR
JOHN STENNIS

Senator John C. Stennis Thursday took the floor of the Senate to attack the "double standard" still applied by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in public school desegregation matters.

The Department "follows an extremely flexible and accommodating rule for the North and a harsh, punitive and unyielding rule for the South," Stennis said.

The Mississippi Senator reminded his colleagues of the Stennis Amendment to the Emergency School Aid Act passed in 1972. This Amendment requires that guidelines and criteria for public school desegregation "be applied uniformly in all regions of the United States in dealing with conditions of segregation without regard to the cause or origin of such segregation," Stennis said.

In spite of the "mandate of Congress" that "the laws of the United States be applied uniformly in all areas of the Nation," Stennis said he "has been astounded to read press accounts of a public statement by the Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare...conceding that there has been very little progress in public school desegregation in the North..."

Stennis recalled that in 1969 he obtained HEW records "which proved without question that there was far more segregation in the public schools of the North and West than in the South. That was the situation then and that is the situation now."

While leading the fight for adoption of the Stennis Amendment, he charged that HEW and other agencies "have systematically applied for the full power and might of the Federal Government against public school districts in the South...while at the same time almost totally ignoring the fact that there is widespread discrimination and segregation in the public schools of the North and West." Secretary Weinberger recently explained the lack of action in the North as a result of "very fierce public opposition to desegregation," according to Stennis. "I think it is ridiculous," Stennis said, "that twenty years after the Brown decision and ten years after the enactment of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, many schools of the North are still more segregated than ever."

Stennis repeated his often stated belief that "we in the South are willing to live under whatever law that is applied in all sections of the Nation."

Stennis disclosed that he had sent a strongly worded letter to Secretary Weinberger reminding him of the provisions of the Stennis Amendment and protesting "the continued application of a policy under which HEW largely ignores for the North the provisions of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, while continuing its iron grip on the schools of the South."

Stennis pointed out that in only one case out of 84 reviews of northern school districts had HEW actually cut off federal funds for lack of compliance to desegregation orders.

In the South Stennis said, "funds were cut off or deferred in a wholesale manner until school districts agreed to a desegregation plan virtually dictated line by line by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

The Mississippi Senator urged that the mandate of Congress contained in the Stennis Amendment be followed in all school districts throughout the Nation and that the same standards be applied both North and South.

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

THE REAL ISSUES

I always enjoy my trips back to South Mississippi and I appreciate the views offered by my constituents. My recent swing through the Fifth Congressional District left me more convinced than ever that they know the real issues in this country.

The people are concerned about inflation. They're worried about the soaring cost of food, electricity, gas, and the cost of living in general.

As I reminded the people at each of my stops, however, the state of the economy is not a problem with quick or easy solutions. Just as it developed over a period of years, it will take time to straighten things out.

The place to start, of course, is in Washington. Congress must work closely with the administration and federal agencies in an effort to find areas to cut federal spending, many of which are painfully obvious, such as cutting the exorbitant foreign aid budget.

The people also talked about their feelings on amnesty, Social Security, and pension programs in general. Now that I have returned to Washington, I am looking into these various problems on an individual basis as well as trying to find some long-term solutions.

In the remaining months of this year, Congress faces some important unfinished business. Among the issues we must face before the end of this session are:

(1) The nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President - The 25th Amendment requires that both houses approve such a nomination. Both the Senate and the House expect to launch full-scale hearings in the near future.

(2) Tax reform - All Americans will agree that some faults in our tax system should be corrected. I hope that Congress will tackle and remedy some of these problems during this session.

(3) Deepwater ports - This legislation would authorize the federal government to license deepwater ports for importing foreign oil. Since it has already passed the House and is nearing Senate committee completion, I see no reason it can't reach the President's desk before the end of this session.

(4) Foreign aid - The major unfinished item facing Congress in foreign policy is a $3.2 billion foreign aid authorization, which includes such areas as military, economic or reconstruction assistance for Indochina, Israel, Egypt and many other nations.

There are other pressing matters, of course, but these four should dominate our attention throughout the remainder of this session. If we don't finish before the October 12 target date for adjournment, there's a good chance we will return for a lame-duck session after the November elections.

Much remains to be done before the 93rd Congress slips into history. The road ahead, however, seems to be clearly marked.

PC students to enter PSAT prelims

Students at Pass Christian High School will have the opportunity to join over 1 million other students around the world in taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMSQT) as an important step in making college plans.

The test, to be given on October 22, is designed to measure verbal and mathematical abilities that are important in doing college work. The PSAT-NMSQT is cosponsored by the College Board and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

In addition to helping students find out more about themselves and their abilities, the test can lead to other opportunities such as:

-entering the competition for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation;

-participating in the College Board's Student Search Service (SSS) so they can get information from colleges that may be looking for such students.

These are described in the PSAT-NMSQT STUDENT BULLETIN, available in the counseling office.

To help students get the most out of their participation, they will receive a booklet called About Your PSAT-NMSQT Scores with score reports. It will reveal where to find and how to use more detailed information about colleges and financial aid and how to plan for a college education. It will also explain how students can estimate their SAT scores.

When scores are received, students can use the College Board's College Handbook to compare themselves with enrolled students at hundreds of colleges and universities and find out their chances of getting into and succeeding at the colleges of their choice.

Contest continues

ATTENTION STUDENTS: There is still time to enter your 50 words or less in the Sea Coast Echo sponsored Constitution Week contest. Send your paragraphs to: Contest Editor, Sea Coast

Echo, Bay St. Louis, Miss. 39520.

Be sure to include your name and address and tell us which school you attend. These paragraphs will be used on radio and also printed.

MISS FLAME CONTESTANT, Lisa Walsh, will represent the Bayside Park Volunteer Fire Department in the upcoming Miss Flame contest, sponsored by the Hancock County Firemen's Assn. Miss Walsh is a seventh grade student at Gulfview School.

Nancy Wolfe is a semi-finalist

Very Rev. Gregory J. Johnson, M.A., principal of Our Lady's Academy in Bay St. Louis, had announced that Nancy A. Wolfe, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Marion J. Wolfe, Jr. of Bay St. Louis, has been named a semi-finalist in the competition for some 3,400 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1975.

The Merit Program semi-finalists were the highest scorers in each state on the 1973 preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test administered to over one million students in about 17,000 schools nationwide.

The semi-finalists, most of whom will complete High School and enter College in 1975, will be identified to regionally accredited U. S. Colleges and Universities. Many semi-finalists find this recognition useful in gaining admission to the College of their choice and in obtaining financial aid.

According to Edward C. Smith, President of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, "The approximately 15,000 semi-finalists represent the top one-half of one percent of the nation's most academically talented young people. The students bring honor to themselves, their families, their teachers and their communities. Many of these students, those who make the best use of their ability to become productive at the high intellectual levels of which they are capable, will be future leaders in business, industry and the professions."

Semi-finalists must qualify as finalists to advance in the competition for Merit Scholarships.

Students warned to check policies

With the beginning of fall classes at Mississippi's colleges and universities, State Insurance Commissioner Evelyn Gandy has cautioned students to be certain they fully understand what they are buying before signing promissory notes for insurance coverage.

Certain types of life insurance available to college students have been misunderstood in the past by many students, Miss Gandy said, and this has resulted in numerous hardships for students.

The basic life insurance plan offered to college students allows the student to make a minimal down payment (usually $10) on the policy premium, and allows students to sign a promissory note for the balance of a full year's premium. The note is due at the end of a year but can be renewed by payment of interest as well as premiums on the policy for as long as five years with most companies.

However, if premiums on the policy are not paid during this period of time, the note immediately becomes due and must be paid even if the insurance is dropped or discontinued.

In the past, Miss Gandy said, the insurance department has received complaints from students who thought they were getting free insurance coverage for a year, when in fact they were actually deferring payment for a year or two, and complaints from the parents of the students who in many cases had to pay the bill.

In 1973, Miss Gandy responded to those complaints by issuing strong new guidelines to companies and agents selling the college student coverage. Compliance with those guidelines by the insurance industry has subsequently eliminated the bulk of the problems.

Commissioner Gandy said that she heartily approves of everyone thinking about his future and making plans for a sound insurance program, but that she does offer a word of caution and advises students who sign notes for insurance premiums to be sure they understand they are not receiving free insurance, and that this promissory note will eventually have to be paid.

Anyone needing information about college student insurance, or anyone who encounters problems with this type of coverage, should contact the Mississippi Insurance Department, P. O. Box 79, Jackson, Miss.

Pick a STAR now

In the spring of 1974 a senior student from each of 301 high schools located in all parts of Mississippi was called before a student assembly and recognized as the "STAR Student" of his school.

Then, the STAR student introduced the teacher who had made the greatest contribution to his or her scholastic achievement. The teacher was designated a "STAR Teacher" and presented with an appropriate certificate.

Later at the Mississippi Economic Council's Annual Meeting in April, STAR students and teachers from 20 areas across the state were recognized; and the top STAR student, teacher, and runner-up STAR student were presented scholarships.

The Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition

(STAR) Program is a project of the Education Committee of the Mississippi Economic Council. Its purpose is to emphasize the importance of scholastic achievement and to encourage greater effort in this direction by Mississippi teachers. It is also designed to honor the teaching profession.

Participation in the STAR program is determined by high school principals. Invitations to participate this year were sent to Mississippi principals earlier this month.

To qualify for the STAR program, students must be regularly enrolled seniors in an accredited public or private high school in Mississippi. They must take the American College Test (ACT).

The STAR student in each high school is selected on the basis of his ACT score and his scholastic average during the first semester of his senior year.

STAR students and their STAR teachers for the 1974-75 school year will be recognized in special student assembly programs next spring, with MEC certificates to be presented at that time.

After a year of competition, area STAR students will be recognized and the top STAR student, teacher and runner-up STAR student will be presented scholarships.

The STAR program is now in its ninth year of promoting academic excellence and honoring the state's dedicated school teachers.

Summer is Fall . . . ing

It arrived in stiff, new jeans, an itchy sweater and saddle oxfords...and greeted us with cowbells and Ole Miss-State oaks.

From the minute it made the scene there was an unmistakable air of new exuberance; voices got louder, giggles more frequent, and everything began to take on an "I'm looking at the world through rose colored glasses" glow!

You can feel it. It's in the air. It's fall — and its welcome!

The summer months, its true, are those which are advertised and talked about the most. And, actually, there's no season of the year which doesn't offer its own kind of charm in Mississippi. But fall is a special time...it's the time when the sea of green seems to slide into the warmer shades of gold and crimson. The roadsides are decorated with black-eyed susans, huckleberry bushes and cotton fields ready for harvest. The days with their warm sunshine are cooled by gentle breezes, and the nights are soft, yet crisp, lending themselves to football games, sporty sweaters and corduroy jackets.

The Travel and Tourism Department of the Mississippi A & I Board lists an inviting variety of activities as part of a Mississippi fall. A long list of festivals and fairs, football games, craft shows, camping, float trips, hiking, hunting and fishing are all on the agenda.

FAIRS AND FESTIVALS

Numerous county fairs are held throughout the State. Many of these local fairs are livestock shows where state cattle owners compete for prizes and cash money.

The largest of these, the Mississippi State Fair, is scheduled for October 8-15 in Jackson. In addition to the usual livestock judging, industrial and educational exhibits, agricultural and floral shows, and giant midway, a coliseum show will feature Mac Davis and Lou Rawls.

"Interesting and unique" could label the Old Natchez Territory Fair, September 16-20 in Natchez; the 1974 Holly Hill Craftsmen's Fair, September 28-29, Kosciusko; Oktoberfest, October 5, Biloxi; Great River Road Craft Fair, October 11-13, Natchez; and the Harvest Festival in October in Calhoun City.

The Natchez Territory Fair features horse shows, rides, industrial and arts and crafts exhibits plus nightly live entertainment. The Holly Hill Craftsmen's Fair is held on the Natchez Trace just south of Kosciusko, and features live crafts demonstration and sale, live entertainment, refreshments, and a sorghum making demonstration. The Oktoberfest, featuring German food and drink, is sponsored by Germania and held at the Ocean Springs Community Center. Held in the Natchez Civic Center, the Great River Road Craft Fair is an annual event where craftsmen from all over the United States come to sell their wares. Calhoun City sponsors a real Harvest Festival to promote the town and its businesses. Events include Old Fashioned Field Day, pet shows, auctions and lots of gifts to be given away.

Other fall calling cards are the Lowndes County Fair, September 16-20, Columbus; Montgomery County Fair, September 17-20, Winona; Gem and Mineral Show, September 23-27, Natchez; Pike County Fair, September 23-28, Kosciusko; Art in the Park, September 26, Jackson; Ole Tyme Carnival, October 5, held on the grounds of antebellum Auburn, Natchez; Mississippi-Alabama Fair, October 7-12, Meridian; Yacht Club Hospitality Regatta, October 12-13, Jackson; Arts in the Park, October 24-26, Brookhaven; and an Antique Forum, November 13-17, Natchez.

FOOTBALL
Another "must" is Mississippi football, and in this State fall and football are one in the same. Almost every Thursday and Friday night during the season, fans can see high school players compete on the gridiron for regional titles. Mississippi's junior colleges, colleges and universities maintain full Saturday schedules.

CAMPING
High on the agenda of fall activities is camping. All of the thirteen parks that make up the state park system offer excellent facilities for the camping enthusiast in his trailer or tent, as do the six national forests, seven reservoirs, twenty-one Game and Fish Commission lakes and forty-five sites along the windy, nationally-famed Natchez Trace Parkway.

FISHING & HUNTING

The Mississippi countryside is dotted with small farm ponds, lakes and giant reservoirs...all teeming with thousands of pounds of largemouth bass, crappie, bream and catfish. In addition, the state boasts more than 1.6 million acres of public hunting lands...in 19 state wildlife management areas and two national wildlife areas. Squirrel, rabbit, quail, dove, duck, deer and wild turkey are all available to the Mississippi hunter.

FLOAT TRIPS

If you've never tried floating one of Mississippi's wide, meandering rivers...fall is definitely the time for it. The water is higher, the temperature more comfortable, and the many gorgeous trees bordering the banks, and in some places completely roofing the waters, are just beginning to take on a golden hue and drop their lovely leaves in your path. Probably the most organized float trip, and therefore the easiest for the beginner, is the Black Creek Float Trip in DeSoto National Forest. Six landings are in operation along the float, and three more will be completed soon.

Yes, fall is truly a special time in Mississippi...it's still in its infancy. Now is the time to make plans to enjoy this beautiful, invigorating time of year in the best of all states...Mississippi. It's as great as all outdoors.

Walking to school was fun

Sixty years ago children walked to school. There just wasn't any other way to get there. There weren't any cars to drive you to school, and there weren't any buses, so there wasn't any problem about which school you should go to. You went to the nearest one.

Altogether, it saved trouble and expense and gave you a lot of exercise which brought roses to your cheeks and drained off surplus energy which might have been used in much less profitable ways. After all, what was the use of having legs if you didn't use them?

Children usually walked to school in groups and a good many profound questions were discussed and a great many unsung battles fought along the way.

For friend and foe alike joined the cavalcade as it proceeded toward the schoolhouse.

It was a little world all its own, that walk to school — a world which, unfortunately, has almost ceased to exist.

No set-aside requirements for cotton and grain

Madelyn R. Williams, local acting ASCS director, quoted Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz today in stating that "the 1974 Feed Grain, Wheat, and Upland Cotton Programs will have no set-aside requirement and will provide farmers decision making freedom to produce for the marketplace. He also said there will be no land removed from agricultural production under these government programs."

Mrs. Williams went on to say that the Washington ASCS Office had previously stated that there will be no conserving base requirement for the duration of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (through the 1977 crop year), nor will the provision be implemented during the life of the 1973 act which gives the Secretary discretionary authority to limit feed grain and wheat to a percentage of allotments and upland cotton planted in excess of the base allotment.

Allotments under programs authorized under the 1973 Farm Bill do not represent a limit on acreage, but are computed only for the purpose of payments to producers should such payments be required.

Generally, the allotments for wheat and feed grains represent the number of acres harvested of wheat, corn, grain sorghum, and barley based on the estimated national average yield which would result in production equal to estimated domestic and export disappearance in the 1975-76 marketing year.

The Secretary of Agriculture has indicated that for 1975, as in 1974, producers may substitute any non-conserving crop or any conserving crop used for hay or for grazing in order to preserve their wheat, feed grain, or cotton allotments and to make them eligible for any payments under the target price feature. Crops for which a marketing quota is in effect are excluded.

In an outdoor wedding August 31 at Greenway Farm, Columbia, Tenn., Miss Janice Elizabeth Finney became the bride of Richard Edward Schilling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schilling of Waveland, Miss. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Floyd R. Ray of Warren, N. H., and the late Louis Jeanmaire Finney.

The terrace at the home of the bride's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Delk Kennedy, was the setting for the ceremony. The Rev. Robert Sharp, rector St. Peter's Episcopal Church, solemnized the vows at noon in the presence of the two families and friends.

Designed with an empire bodice, the dress featured a high neckline with a stand-up double ruffle outlined with lace. Pinafore-type ruffles and lace bordered the tucked yoke and long full sleeves. A satin ribbon sash extended to streamers in the back and the skirt and chapel train ended in a deep flounce bordered at the top by a wide band of lace.

Her picture hat of matching organza was trimmed with lace and ivory ribbon and she carried a French bouquet of yellow roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Sam Kennedy, wore a long dress of white silk organza with a deep pink and green print and a brimmed hat of white sheer braid trimmed with a pink ribbon band. Her bouquet was a smaller model of the one carried by the matron of honor.

Waveland vs Hancock S.O. or Who's on third?

A softball game as unorthodox as the one which took place last Sunday at the Waveland ballpark can't be described in conventional terms - or even in unconventional terms, for that matter.

The occasion was a match between the Waveland police department, the challengers, and the Hancock County sheriff's department. The form, physical and athletic, of most of the players turned the contest into something strongly resembling a Keystone Cops comedy.

Although every rule in the softball book was broken, individually and collectively, the event was a tribute to the intestinal fortitude and unexpected stamina of the participants.

The constant dialogue from players, taunting their opponents, was also right out of a Keystone comedy. Witticisms flew faster than the players and were as corny as Kansas in April.

From the sidelines one heard... "all these cops and they're stealing bases"... (to the pitcher) "better walk him, he'll never make it if he has to run"... (of the amazing number of pot bellies in evidence) "that's a foul, he's hiding the base."

The Waveland police chief said to the mayor, "Who's watching the safe in City Hall?" to which the mayor replied, "Don't worry about it - we're all here."

Even the bases were in jeopardy. After striking out several times, Bert Stieffel finally hit a line drive which brought him red faced and gasping to second base, which he picked up and waved triumphantly in the air. A high fly by the next batter got him so excited he took off for third still clutching second.

We don't know what happened on second because the inevitable happened in left field. The two outfielders, running at top speed with their eyes cast heavenward, had a head-on collision which left Orville Ferrell more out than the batter.

Sheriff's deputy Bob Harvey was score keeper and called the game over the patrolcar mike. He came in for more abuse than the umpire, who in the spirit of fair play, amiably agreed with the sideline scorers.

On the other hand, Harvey tenaciously clung to his inning calls, ignoring ominous mutterings which cast doubt on his ability to count, i.e., "TOP OF THE FIFTH??!! Its gotta be the eleventh!!!"

"It IS the fifth," Harvey retorted unsympathetically. "It just FEELS like the eleventh."

Out of deference to their positions, we suppose, Mayor Longo pitched for Waveland (he's always pitching for Waveland), and Sheriff Ladner was on the mound for his team, which included, besides an amazing number of deputies, a justice of the peace, the county prosecutor, the county juvenile counselor, and three constables. "They're all in law enforcement," he said, smugly. It was a long and funny game and one of the most entertaining shows ever produced in these parts. Waveland came out on top 24 to 23 and everyone blamed Sam Perniciaro for the one point loss.

He hit a terrific line drive over the fence and dug a trench around the bases running for home. He drove two men in ahead of him and was clocked at 60 in the home stretch. The crowd went wild as Perniciaro ground to a stop and fell gasping for breath on the sidelines. As the sheriff and his teammates covered him with praise, the umpire said quietly, "It don't count. He didn't touch any of the bases."

It was all downhill after that.

Later, at a delicious spaghetti dinner cooked by Rufus Hill and hosted by Mayor Longo at Trapani's Shamrock Room, injuries were tallied. Besides a good many bruises and scrapes, the more serious injuries included Orville Ferrell's badly bruised leg, Terry Holmes' bruised elbow, a Waveland player's cut arm, Warren Dulhu (who was water boy) bit his cigar in half and the sheriff tore his pants - badly. Monday morning the sheriff turned up with another injury. He had broken his little finger. The best part of the entire event was the camaraderie it engendered among all the participants, who all agreed that this should be an annual affair. It will take that long for everyone to recover.

Things have gotten normal again after Carmen's visit as far as tides and water conditions are concerned all kinds of fishing has improved both fresh and salt water.

Bass and perch are being caught most everywhere, especially at the Pipe Line Canal and out from LaFrances Camp. They are hitting popping bugs and other surface baits. Speckles were caught in the canals next to the camp and back by the railroad.

They were all school trout but are still good eating. Bass were running nice are still good eating. Bass were running nice are still good eating.

For those using dead shrimp Rat Reds and Red Fish were caught in upper and outer Campbell Bayous by the ice box full as well as other Salt water fish.

Speaking of La France's Camp down at Ansley, it is in new hands. The camp is now owned by Arnold Lowe from Hattiesburg, Miss. Working at the camp is Robert Little who is an expert at launching and handling boats and skiffs. Other helpers are Totie and Marie Hall.

LaFrance's Camp is an Old Land Mark in this section and is in the heart of good fishing territory. The famous croaker hole on Pearl River is just a short distance from the camp.

You can rent boats, buy bait, launch your boat, and catch fish the year round. Ask any fisherman where the camp is located and you will be glad you did. LaFrance's Camp was formerly owned and operated by Pos LaFrance and wife, Mabel.

Among those catching speckles and bass the past few days were Luke Elliott, and dad, Dec Elliott, Ray Garner, Allen Elliott, and M. F. Cass.

From the looks of things we should have mighty good fishing from here on out. Specks, redfish and flounders are still being caught along the two bridges out front, and off the seawall from Cedar Point to Bayou Caddy. Enough shrimp to fish with are being caught at these spots.

Talk is heard every day about the opening of the dove season the middle of the month. Several groups have planned hunting trips. According to those visiting dove fields there should be plenty of the favored fast fly little birds to supply some good shooting when the opening day arrives.

We said there would be more on the dove trip made in the North part of the state last week by Judge Hornes. The judge informed us that he was rained out. No doves naturally!

Cliff Comeaux and Junior Gaynes from Baton Rouge, La. did some fly fishing and casting up Pearl River over the weekend. Probably caught their share of bass. The water should have cleared up by now. Will report on it next week.

To prove they are catching speckles out in front of St. Charles Street Mike Morel caught 28 speckles over the weekend. Mike catches them by wading from the bank. They averaged about 2 lbs. Mike is one of our younger fishermen.

Another proof is Jerry Carver landed 10 speckles according to Vic Carver, his dad.

Andrew Nelson got 37 specks Thursday on the Shad Rig. Goes to prove they are hitting most any old kind of bait. Believe it or not specks are even being caught on dead bait. They really are hungry.

While fly fishing it is nothing to catch speckles on popping bugs. Rather hard but it is being done. Speckles have a tender mouth and the bugs tear out unless they are solidly hooked.

Enough on speckles. Flounders are also being caught out front. The best way to catch them is to fish on the bottom with a tight line. Dead shrimp or cut bait is most effective.

Ever hear of Bayou Potash? No. Well it is down by Ansley and runs under the L & N Railroad. South of the L & N there are oodles of camps. The stream is full of bass and perch waiting to be caught. You can launch your boat easily.

At this time of the year plenty bass are caught on the fly rod or by casting. Better give this spot a try.

Skiing is fine for those who ski. But it is getting to be a pain for those fishing. Only a couple of days ago we were fishing in a bayou only umpteen feet wide and along came those skiing.

Had to get out of the bayou and leave it to them. Can't there be some way to make skiers use larger streams or out in the Bay for instance? Skiers have as much right to the waters as others but why not make a happy medium. Ever think about it?

BWYC Backwash

MONK SMITH REGATTA—Several years ago Bay Waveland Yacht Club dedicated a trophy in memory of "Monk" Smith, a charter member of the club who spent many hours in Race committee work and had a great deal to do with furthering the interest in sailing and racing during the early days of BWYC. This trophy was to be sailed for by the Gulf Yachting Association clubs during the fall sailing season.

It was last won by New Orleans Yacht Club but for several years their victory was not challenged. This year the trophy will return home to Bay Waveland and the Monk Smith Regatta will begin again as an annual event in Bay St. Louis.

Woody Santa Cruz, Regatta Chairman, has announced that the competition in both Flying Scots and Sunfish will be Saturday and Sunday, September 21 and 22. There will be a Skippers' Meeting Saturday morning at 10 at BWYC. The first two races are scheduled for Saturday afternoon, and the third race will be Sunday morning.

The Ladies Auxiliary is sponsoring a big FISH FRY this Saturday night, with the assistance of chefs John Rutherford, Howard Adams and C. C. McDonald, Jr. The Regular Friday and Sunday dinners will be served for members and visitors for the regatta. Lunch will be available both days at the Club.

Sailing the Bay Waveland Flying Scots in the Monk Smith Regatta will be Walt Chamberlain, Chuck Breath, Frank Allen, Ed Turnipseed, Marc Eagan and Bobby Eagan.

BILOXI SUNFISH REGATTA—Dennis Stieffell sailed to victory in Biloxi's GYA Sunfish Regatta last weekend. It was a beautiful sight as over 30 brightly colored boats sailed the two round triangles of the three race series. Dennis finished second in the first race behind Leslie Weatherly of Gulfport Yacht Club, then moved ahead to win the next two races, with Leslie second in both.

MARC EAGAN finished a close second in the Senior Division with a first and two third place finishes. Hoagie Herman of New Orleans Yacht Club won with a first,

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK—Archie Diboll doesn't claim to be much of a fisherman. He has other hobbies, however. He delivers meals on wheels to Senior Citizens and helps on other occasions. He is a real civic minded citizen.

St. Stanislaus players no. 72 Mike Siebert and no. 80 Larry Riley were there Friday to break up this play for Pearl River, Louisiana. The Rockchaws came away with a 27-6 victory over the visitors at the Stanislaus stadium. Stanislaus made its first appearance in the Pascagoula River Conference Sept. 6 with a 12-6 decision over Hancock North Central.

Rock-A-Chaws, 27-6

By Edward Favre
The Saint Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws won their second football game of the season last Friday night defeating the Pearl River, La. Rebels 27-6 at Rock-A-Chaw Stadium.

With 7:08 left in the first quarter, quarterback Art Scafield hit tight end Larry Riley with a 12-yard pass for the first score of the game. The extra point attempt from placement by Mike Price was no good making the score 6-0. The drive took nine plays and covered 64 yards.

Stanislaus added two more touchdowns in the second quarter. The first TD of the period came after Brent Logan recovered a Pearl River fumble on the Rebel 33 yard line. It took only three plays to cross the goal line with Mike Russell taking a hand-off from quarterback Scafield for four yards for the TD. The extra point attempt from placement by Gene Hoda was no good.

The second score in the quarter came with just 57 seconds left in the half as Russell took a handoff from quarterback David Weir and carried the ball into the end zone from 15 yards out. The extra point attempt from placement by Mike Price was good.

The score at halftime was Stanislaus 19, Pearl River 0. The Rocks got their final score in the game with 11:15 to go in the fourth quarter. Monty Elchos took a handoff from quarterback Scafield and raced into the end zone from 12 yards out. Mike Graeber, another Rock quarterback, carried the ball in for the two-point conversion making the score 27-0.

With just 57 seconds to go in the game, Glynn Ellis took the ball from quarterback Sam Simmons at the two yard line and carried it in for the only Rebel TD. The extra point attempt was no good.

Stanislaus' record is now 2-0 for the season.

This week the Rocks will host the St. John Eagles of Gulfport starting at 7:30 p.m. at Rock-A-Chaw Stadium.

East Central drops HNC 39-8

by EDWARD FAVRE

The Hancock North Central Hawks lost their second Pascagoula River Conference game Friday when they were defeated by the East Central Hornets, 39-8.

The Hornets got their first score in the game on a five yard run by Greg Simmons in the first quarter to climax an 85 yard drive. The extra point attempt was no good leaving the score 6-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Darrell Clark scored the second Hornet TD rushing 72 yards in the second quarter. Phillip Scarbrough's extra point attempt from placement was good giving East Central a 13-0 lead.

Later in the third period quarterback Terry Long plunged over from one-yard out for East Central's third score of the game. The extra point attempt from placement was no good, making the score 19-0.

Darrell Clark picked up his second TD of the night on a 61-yard run in the third quarter. Scarborough kicked the extra point making the score 26-0. Later in the third quarter Long passed to wide receiver Steve Dickerson for a 40-yard touchdown. The extra point attempt failed making the score 32-0.

The final Hornet score came when Gerald Rice intercepted a Hawk pass and returned it 65-yards for the TD. Scarborough kicked the extra point to end the Hornets scoring at 39 points.

The Hancock North Central Hawks got their only TD of the game in the fourth quarter when quarterback Revette Shaw climaxed a 40-yard drive by taking the ball into the end zone from two-yards out. Sonny Schwartz carried the ball for the two-point conversion making the final score 39-8.

The loss dropped the Hawk's record to 0-2-0.

The Hawks will host Notre Dame this week at home.

Bay High quarterback Mike Magee almost has this pass knocked down by the aerial ballet of this unidentified Pass Christian player. Pass High went on to take the game 20-7. Bay High's lone score came on another Magee pass to David Ray for six yards. Magee also kicked the extra point.

Pass drubs Tigers, 20-7

by Edward Favre

The Pass Christian Pirates overcame a 7-6 halftime deficit to defeat the Bay High Tigers 20-7 Friday night at Tiger Stadium. The Pirates scored 13 points in the second half while holding the Tigers scoreless.

After a missed extra point attempt following a 40 yard touchdown run by Pirate quarterback Thomas Boyd also in the first quarter and a scoreless second and third quarter, it appeared Bay High might contain the favored Pirates.

The rambling quarterback from Pass High came back in the final period of the game though to dash any hopes of a one point Tiger victory. Boyd's second tally came on a six yard run but again the Pirates could not convert the extra point kick and led 12-7.

Oren Parker scored the final touchdown for the Pirates on another six yard run. Parker carried the ball again for a two point conversion play to give the Pirates a deciding 20-7 victory.

The Pirates, now 2-0 for the new season, host D'Iverville this week at McDonald Stadium in Pass Christian. The Tigers, who are still looking for their first win in two starts, will take to the road next week facing the Harrison Central Red Rebels at Lyman.

Tigers...then Wildcats

These former Bay High School teammates will be donning the uniform of the Pearl River Junior College Wildcats together this season. Kneeling from left are John McPhail, wing back and deep back; Leslie Hinson, tackle; Rudy Tillman wide end;

Sam Piazza, noseguard; and Jimmy Pernicaro guard. Back row from left are Glenn Estapa, tackle; Ed Porter III, guard; Corey Bielstein, manager; David Richardson, punter; and Fred Bilbo, quarterback and safety. Pearl River opens its season against Mississippi Delta Junior College this Saturday at Poplarville after an open date last week and a game cancellation Sept. 7th with East Central.

Pearl River vs. Delta

Two Week layoff has Seligman worried

Poplarville — A rematch of the 1973 north and south junior college division winners will take place Saturday, September 21 between the Pearl River Junior College Wildcats and the Mississippi Delta Trojans, at Dobbie Holden Stadium in Poplarville.

The 8:00 p.m. contest will be the home opener, and actually the season opener for the Wildcats. Hurricane Carmen forced Pearl River to cancel their first game September 7 at Decatur. The following Saturday the Cats had an open date, placing them in a slight disadvantage this week, as Mississippi Delta opened last week against Holmes.

PRC and Delta met twice in 1973, both times on the Pearl River campus. The Wildcats won the first meeting 17-14. In the playoff game, however, Delta reversed the rolls on a late game comeback to win the state championship 21-17. Delta has dealt Pearl River, a perennial south division power over the last ten years, more trouble than any other team in the state. Since 1964, the Trojans have won five of seven contests.

In the 1972 and 73 regular season, when Delta was state champion, Pearl River did defeat the Trojans 20-6 in 1972 and as mentioned, 17-14 last season. Before 1964 Delta had never beaten the River.

Pearl River's head coach, Harvey Seligman, said the game Saturday night was really like starting at the middle of the season.

"We have been practicing five weeks and I still don't know how we will do under real pressure," Seligman said.

"We really needed to play that game with East Central," Seligman said, "but we couldn't very well do that without part of our team."

Several of the players had to return home on the Gulf Coast to help their families evacuate because of Hurricane Carmen.

At this time the game against East Central will not be played unless it is essential to determine a winner for either the north or south crowns. If at that time it is needed, it will be re-scheduled after the season at the East Central campus.

The starting lineup for the Wildcats will be Lee Meitzler, 150 lbs., Picayune, at quarterback; Randy Burge, 165 lbs., Poplarville, wingback; and Sumrall backs Larry Tyrone, 177 lbs., tailback; and Mike Powers 184 lbs., at fullback.

At center will be Mike Sorrells, 195 lbs., from Picayune. The guard positions are filled by Tom May, 195 lbs., Columbia; and James Seal, 191 lbs., of Poplarville. Allen McComber, 225 lbs., Picayune; and Steve Smith, 210 lbs., Poplarville, are holding down the tackle slots.

Doug Lumpkin, 160 lbs., of Picayune will return at split end and William Parish, 195 lbs., West Marion, is expected to open at the tight end position.

The defensive unit, looking the most impressive during pre-season practice, will have Ricky and Randy Burge of Poplarville; Fred Bilbo, Bay St. Louis and Willie Bullock, Petal, at the defensive back slots.

In the defensive line will be two-way starter Tom May, 195, at tackle along with Orlander Newsome 210 lbs.,

Ole Miss won't find any hoddy toddies in Memphis

Dan Barber
Echo Sports Editor

It's pretty darn upsetting when both of your old alma maters get knocked off in the same week.

It's even harder to take when both defeats were upsets by Mississippi teams.

As a graduate of Memphis State University and a former student of the University of Missouri, I was especially interested in the outcome of last Saturday's confrontations with USM and Ole Miss.

Missouri, the perennial Big Eight Conference powerhouse, would surely snuff out the smaller and weaker Rebels again I surmised. The first matching of the two teams had resulted in a decisive 17-0 Mizzou victory.

The University of Southern Mississippi, always a close rivalry with Memphis State, was another underdog according to the books. Memphis State, under second year head coach Fred Pancoast, was expected to be too strong for the Golden Eagles this year. Mizzou was surprised 10-0 and the Golden Eagles battered out a 6-0 win over Memphis State.

I have renewed respect for both Mississippi teams. However...the days of reckoning must come and for all you Ole Miss diehards out there it may be sooner than you care to think about.

Predictions: Since it doesn't cost anything, to predict games and anybody can get into the act I don't mind telling you mine. I predict Memphis State will win by one point over Ole Miss. Bet you Rebels didn't like that one. Alabama will run away with Southern and Pearl River will find themselves disappointed after their opener with Delta.

On the high school scene, it looks like a long year for Bay High as they lose their third straight to Harrison Central on the road. Stanislaus and Pass Christian is a toss up but I lean toward the Pirates. Hancock North Central is in for another long night with Notre Dame.
